COLUMBUS, Oct. 17.—(P)—Ohio's dream of super motor highways, part of a nation-wide network, drew a step nearer reality today.

Four trunk lines across Ohio, most of them four and six-lanes wide, have been charted tentatively as part of a nearly 40,000-mile system designed to lace together all but two of the nation's cities of more than 100,000 population.

Ohio's proposed section of the express highway system has been under consideration for several months by the Public Roads Administration in Washington. Lack of agreement between Ohio and Pennsylvania on the place where the Pittsburgh-Cleveland route will cross the state line was reported holding up a decision.

State Highway Director Perry T. Ford disclosed agreement now has been reached but declined to reveal the place selected pending anticipated administration approval of Ohio's tentative plans.

The Ohio segment of the system will aggregate 1,158 miles, with two East-West and two North-South routes crossing the state. The routes will pass through or skirt all major cities except Akron and Youngstown.

The East-West route from Pittsburgh will pass between Akron and Youngstown to reach Cleveland, swing south of Elyria but hit Fremont and Toledo and extend west.

The other, also from Pittsburgh, will enter Ohio near St.

Clairsville and pass through Zanesville, Columbus and Springfield en route to Indianapolis.

One North-South route will enter the state from Erie, Pa., and pass through Cleveland, Mansfield, Columbus, Washington C. H., Wilmington and Cincinnati.

The other from Detroit will hit Toledo, Lima, Dayton and Cincinnati. It will pass near Findlay.

Military Problems Confront Congress

Hearings on Merger of Army and Navy Expected To Develop Some Major Issues - President's Recommendation for Compulsory Military Training in Peacetime Likely To Start Heated Debate

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(P)—Another white-hot postwar problem fell on Congress today—the problem of what kind of armed forces America needs in the years ahead.

The Senate Military Committee began hearings on the much-argued proposal to merge the Army and Navy. Army chiefs are expected to say "do it." The Navy next week is expected to say "don't."

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

As a great many of you know, Fayette County has long been recognized as a center of purebred hogs, cattle, corn, sheep and poultry.

It was a tremendous jump from the "razor back" wild hogs that formerly infested Fayette County until it was known as "Little Bristle" because Ross County, from which most of this county was taken, was known as "Big Bristle" due to the herds of wild hogs that roamed the area a century or more ago, to the purebred swine that have long made Fayette County famous among swine breeders generally.

It is evident that year by year more and more farmers realize the importance of raising purebred livestock, and this fact was brought forcibly to attention Monday afternoon when the C. G. and Tom Parrett sale of 61 head of Poland Chinas was held, and Fayette County men outbid all others and took the entire offering.

Purebred livestock is on the increase here, and the county is certainly in the forefront as a result of the large number of progressive farmers and livestock breeders.

Fifteen Eurasians Shot or Hacked to Pieces

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 17.—(P)—Extremists of the Nationalist youth movement got completely out of hand in many areas of Java tonight, killing and looting in frenzied zeal to show their hatred for Europeans.

Fifteen Eurasians were shot or hacked to pieces at Depok, 20 miles from Batavia, by wild-eyed followers of the Nationalist movement.

Homes were destroyed and looted.

Political Amnesty Granted Nearly Million Prisoners While Reds Shout Down With Imperialism More Warlords' Caches of Gold and Jewels Are Found by Americans

By MURLIN SPENCER

TOKYO, Oct. 17.—(P)—Emperor Hirohito, whose future has been a burning topic of speculation ever since the American occupation, granted amnesty today to nearly 1,000,000 Japanese as an openly avowed move to unite Nippon "in meeting a great change in history."

Domei agency noted one effect of the rescript, honoring the day when the first rice crop is offered to the gods, would be to enable as many people as possible to take part in the coming elections.

"We, in meeting a great change in history, are indeed concerned to conquer the difficulties of the times with the country united as one and will trust in the cooperation and assistance of all the people," said the rescript. "Therefore, we have ordered our officials to carry out an amnesty. All our officials and people embody our will."

The rescript, pardoned 320,000 Japanese, reduced the sentence of 37,000 and ordered restoration of civil rights to 600,000.

The emperor's appeal for unity was made at a time when Japanese Communists, celebrating the release of some of their leaders from prison on orders of General MacArthur, were working openly for an end to imperialism.

MacArthur's headquarters announced today that investigating parties of Americans have found fortunes in diamonds, platinum, gold and silver cached by Japanese admirals and generals in secluded areas.

Hop-skip-jump Policy of Administration Is Getting Nowhere With Strikes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(P)—The administration is trying hop-skip and jump solutions of the mass strike action allowing 15 percent wage increases here and there, moving the Navy into plants, allowing states to press for settlements by threats and seizures, providing lapses in motors and steel—and talking about getting a new labor board.

Frankly no one here thinks this will do the job. You cannot patch up a flood. Unless the government takes hold of the fundamentals and solves them, there will be strikes from now on.

The fundamentals behind the situation have been obscured from the public eye by the chaos of propaganda. The union campaign has passed from the economic into the political stage.

Their war time campaigns were

Price Control End Timetable Set Up

Release from Wartime Restrictions in Nearly Every Line Slated To Be Completed by Mid-summer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(P)—Congress received from the House Appropriations Committee today a timetable on the probable end of price controls.

The committee got the information from OPA Boss Chester Bowles during testimony on an appropriation cancellation bill.

Bowles' timetable:

RENTS: OPA will follow a policy of "selected reconrol." In some 150 smaller areas where controls were imposed because of the influx of service personnel, ceilings will be lifted during the present fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

FOOD: General controls continue through January 1 or winter season; sugar, canned fruits, fats, oils through June 1946; removal of controls predicted as follows: milk, dairy products, fish, canned vegetables, by April 1; grains, legumes, field seeds, low quality meats, stew meat, processed meats, by late spring.

CONSUMER GOODS: Major apparel and textiles, by April 1.

SERVICES AND TRANSPORTATION: January 1 through April 1, removal of controls from laundries and dry cleaning; restaurant controls continue through spring 1946, contract-carrier services through spring 1946.

INDUSTRIES: Controls to be lifted on basis materials and machines, by January 1; controls on automobiles and other major metal-using items continue indefinitely; controls building materials continue through June 1946.

Federal Spending Cut Recommended At $52,453,535,278

Postwar Economy Program Unfolded Before Congress by House Appropriations Committee Covers Wide Field of Government Business

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(P)—Cancellation of $52,453,535,278 in government spending authorized for the current fiscal year was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

A direct result of the war's end, the legislation which the committee sent to the House for consideration tomorrow provides for:

Cancellation of $48,264,441,439 in direct appropriations already made for the year ending next June 30.

Wiping out the $4,187,903,339 in contractual authority for the same period. If used, this would have required additional appropriations of that amount.

Recovery of $1,190,500 in funds of corporations created by the coordinator of inter-American affairs.

While the committee made no reference in its written report to the possible effect that huge savings would have on taxes, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) cautioned against any over-optimism on the part of taxpayers.

"This means that there will be just that much less deficit spending for the current year and the national debt will be slowed down a little," Cannon said in an interview. "I see no prospects for substantial tax reductions as a result of this legislation."

As applied to the various agencies, the proposed cuts were:

Military establishments $30,903,090,564.

Naval establishment, $17,662,163,961.

Miscellaneous executive agencies, $3,887,090,253.

The National Association of Manufacturers joined the United States Chamber of Commerce today in recommending a 20 percent cut in individual income taxes next year.

The Chamber estimated the cut might range up to 25 percent.

The manufacturers' group forecast the reductions it recommended would save individual and corporate taxpayers $8,000,000,000 next year and result in a balanced budget by 1948.

In testimony before the Senate finance committee, both organizations urged repeal of the excess profits tax, the capital stock tax and the declared value excess profits tax on corporations, and reduction of excise taxes next July 1 to their pre-war level.

Congress heard from Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher today "everything in our postwar navy should be built around the aircraft carrier."

The man who commanded famous Task Force 58 laid heavy emphasis on naval aviation during hearings on an appropriation cancellation bill sent to the House today.

"The airplane has become at the present time the controlling weapon in naval warfare," Mitscher said.

Million Idle in Region By Jan. 1 Is Prediction

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—(P)—J. Kimball Johnson, director of the United States Employment Service for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky, today predicted 1,000,000 persons in the tri-state region would be seeking jobs by Jan. 1. Johnson announced USES offices in 16 of the region's major industrial areas have been ordered to survey job opportunities and labor supplies "to bring out the facts underlying the so-called anomaly of 66,000 jobs open in those areas while 244,000 men and women are claiming unemployment compensation."

The USES official declared "with estimates of 400,000 veterans being returned to the three-state region by the first of the year, the total number of job seekers may reach close to 1,000,000 by Jan. 1, more than half of which number will be women and older men."

RETURN TO WORK IS SLATED FOR NEXT MONDAY

Mine Union Chief Acts in 'Public Interest' While Industry Affected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(P)—John L. Lewis today called off the soft coal strikes effective Monday.

A United Mine Workers spokesman said the action was taken "in the public interest."

Lewis, in a telegram to officers and members of all local unions said that future efforts to "abate this controversy" over recognition of his foremen's union "will be resumed at a later more appropriate date."

The United Mine Workers' chief said "all negotiations incident to the controversy affecting clerical, technical and supervisory employees have been discontinued."

There are approximately 28,000 to 50,000 such workers. Strikes over their recognition as a unit in Lewis' UMW began September 21 and had spread to more than 1,000 mines up to today.

More than half of the 400,000 soft coal miners were idle when the strikes were called off.

K. C. Adams, spokesman for the United Mine Workers, said "obviously the government has failed to settle the matter," and added that "obviously the action is taken in the public interest."

Government conciliation efforts under guidance of Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach collapsed Monday night after eight days of fruitless conferences aimed at settling the strikes.

The widespread soft coal strikes were responsible for idleness of miners from more than 1,000 pits in six states. Others forced to the strike lines were from steel mills and other industries, whose operations have been sharply reduced by shortage of fuel.

Other front-rank labor controversies of the more than 135 separate disputes across the country were the longshoremen's strike at New York's harbor; the prolonged controversy in Hollywood movie studios; and the walkout of some 61,000 AFL lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest.

In the Pittsburgh and Chicago steel mill centers, operations were the lowest in several years. Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation has furloughed thousands of workers and a spokesman said that unless the coal supply is increased soon at least 25,000 of the company's 36,000 employees in the Chicago and Gary, Ind., districts will be laid off. Most steel mills reported similar conditions.

The magazine Iron Age estimated the steel industry would lose more than 300,000 tons of steel ingots this week because of the enforced shutdowns.

There appeared no indications of an immediate ending of the 17-day-old strike of AFL longshoremen at New York harbor as strife within the union flared, with CIO unionists involved.

Police estimated that 5,000 to 7,000 of more than 35,000 striking longshoremen came back to work yesterday, at the behest of AFL Longshoremen President Joseph P. Ryan.

Insurgent stevedores demanded the ousting of Ryan while representatives of the Ryan faction blamed the union split on Harry Bridges, west coast CIO longshoremen's labor leader, and on the CIO National Maritime Union which is supporting the insurgents. The dispute stemmed over omission of a provision covering size of cargo net loads from a proposed new contract.

Sitdown picketing was added to the prolonged strike of movie workers in Hollywood yesterday.

COAL DEALERS ENTIRELY OUT AS STRIKE ENDS

Fuel May Be Available After Month as Miners Go Back To Work

Prospects for coal this winter brightened considerably today as John L. Lewis called off the soft coal strike at a time when not a dealer here had a lump of coal available in his yards.

Estimates as to when coal shipments in any quantity will be resumed ranged from ten days to a month from now.

Reserve supplies at the mines are considerably depleted and the coal which remained unmined during the nearly month-long strike will decrease the winter's supply somewhat, dealers said. That unmined coal may hurt the mid-winter supplies when coal consumption is at its peak, one of them indicated.

After late shipments close November 15, shipments to retail dealers may approach a normal level, although the 80 percent ruling for dealers still is effective, all believed.

War-time production of coal has been below normal for some time, dealers pointed out. At the same time, they were relieved that the strike had ended and believe that they will have enough coal to supply the needs of their customers—if there are no more strikes.

Every dealer said he had long lists of orders waiting to be filled—and each said he thought that within the next few months he would have enough coal to fill them and perhaps to build up a reserve.

ROADS & BROOKOVER IN SEPARATE FIRMS

War Veteran Going Into Business With Father

Dwight Roads, Jr., has come home from the war to go into the automobile business with his father, D. W. Roads.

The elder Roads bought out his former partner in the garage and used car business, Ernest Brookover and has made a place for his son.

Roads and son expect to continue business at the present location on East Market Street under the name of Roads Motor Sales Co.

Brookover is planning to carry on as the Brookover Motor Sales Co. about a block west and on the opposite side of Market Street.

The younger Roads was discharged from the Army Air Forces as a staff sergeant after having served in the European theater as a tail gunner on a B-17 bomber. When he came back he wore the Purple Heart for wounds received in combat, the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and a Presidential Citation. But back of those decorations is the experience and technical training which counted on to fit him for a civilian business career in the automobile and truck business.

The Roads Co. business now is largely centered in the garage repair work. However, the Dodge car and truck and Plymouth agency is to be added when new cars and trucks are available.

For the present Brookover is centering on body repair and painting and used car sales. An automobile sales agency is expected to be included when the industry gets back into production.

schier told the chamber's appropriations committee.

The admiral emphasized he did not mean to discount the worth of battleships, cruisers and destroyers. But their value, he said, will be as support for aircraft carriers.

Aeronautical scientists believe airplanes will be built with speeds faster than sound—exceeding 750 miles an hour—and that there is no limit to their size.

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics reported that revolutionary changes are in prospect both in the form of airplanes and the means of propulsion.

The statement was presented to the appropriations committee in an appeal for continued allotments of money for research in aeronautics.

Repeal of the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act is favored by George W. Taylor, former chairman of the War Labor Board.

The act sets up a formula for strikes, by providing that a strike vote may be taken if 30 days' notice is given.

The war emergency Guayule rubber program, the committee has concluded, should be liquidated as rapidly as possible.

Testifying during hearings on legislation to cut back federal expenditures, Agriculture Department officials who had charge of the Guayule program of the southwest said the government should realize about $5,000,000 return from the $40,000,000 investment when the undertaking is finally wound up.

The record of the hearings was made public today.

A leading scientist believes that when atomic energy eventually is harnessed its economic impact may be moderate at first.

The opinion was expressed by Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, in testimony made public today by the House appropriations committee.

Bush also said he doubted whether a cure for cancer could be discovered quickly merely by providing huge sums for research.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover fears America may be in for a "rather serious crime wave."

But the house appropriations committee to which the G-man chief expressed his concern declined to rescind a contemplated slash of $2,480,000 in FBI funds for the current fiscal year.

Predicting an increase in kidnapping, bank robbery and extortion, Hoover pleaded with the committee not to reduce the wartime strength of his agency too fast.

The budget bureau had recommended that FBI funds be cut from $35,829,000 to $33,349,000, thus reducing personnel from 10,872 to 6,000. Hoover asked to be allowed to keep 8,223 employees, but the committee went along with the budget bureau's findings.

Germany helped unwittingly to pay a tiny share of this country's cost of whipping her.

Hoover told the story to the appropriations committee.

Reiterating that foreign agents failed to commit a single act of sabotage in this country during the war, Hoover asserted:

"Through our foreign intelligence operations we knew the enemies' plans to send agents to this country. When they landed, we were able to take them into custody at the time of their arrival."

"When Himmler sent one agent here to build a radio for contact with Hamburg, we did not take him into immediate custody. As a matter of fact, he secured his help and, as a result, we convicted a ring of 33 German agents."

"The German government sent $21,000 for the construction of a secret radio station. We expended less than $5,000 and returned the balance of over $16,000 to the treasury department."

Poor Digestion? ☐ Headachy? ☐ Sour or Upset? ☐ Tired-Listless? ☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poor digestion? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25¢.

Senate military and commerce committees to discuss the future of American scientific research.

Tomorrow, four scientists will appear before the House military committee on President Truman's bill for the control of atomic force. The committee decided to reopen its hearings against the wishes of the chairman, Andrew May (D-Ky.).

That same House committee, headed by May, started hearings on a proposal to repeal the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act today.

Labor disputes still were growing as a topic of congressional conversation.

Senator Reed (R-Kas) said there ought to be a law to curb labor unions. But Senators Tunnell (D-Del) and Murray (D-Mont) said strikes can be settled without any new laws.

Spruille Braden came back into the news. Braden, the former ambassador to Argentina, has been nominated assistant secretary of state. The Senate foreign relations committee today met again and was expected to vote "yes."

WORLD TODAY

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

(Substituting for MacKenzie)
Indonesian references to "non-violence," similar to those which have accompanied India's sporadic outbursts in her long search for liberation from Western domination, serve to remind that the present situation in Java is not some new post-war manifestation, but rather a continuation of a movement which has become indigenous to southeast Asia.

Throughout Burma, Malaya and the Indies, long before the war, there was a growing restlessness and sometimes openly hostile attitude toward the British, French and Dutch administrators of a rich Western Pacific area where men produced, for a few cents a day, tremendous wealth which went to swell western standards of living.

Instead of establishing educational and health centers by means of which native populations might prepare themselves for self-government, the ruling powers permitted continuation right up to World War II of a system reminiscent of the earliest days of imperialism. Even with the growth of some feeling of moral responsibility after World War I, little had been done to raise the position of the various Malayan peoples.

When the new war broke, the British and French found the situation disastrous. While we had little evidence one way or another from Java at the time, it is reasonable to assume that Indonesian leaders there, having formed a considerable underground liberation movement long before the war, were not too sorry, in the beginning, to see the Japanese oust their Dutch masters.

It is easily believable that the Japanese, except for the ineptness which characterized their entire war effort, might have mobilized all southeast Asia and at least parts of China and India on their side. Instead they substituted open and forceful theft for suave cultivation, and their chance was gone.

But the fact that the Japanese missed the boat does not mean that the situation is any different. There are from 150 to 200 million people of Malayan extraction in the area. They have become an active part of a tremendous movement, stretching from Libya to the southwest Pacific, by which Moslem, Hindu and Pacific peoples alike are determined to shake off western domination.

In dealing with the European countries the Malaysians, including the Indonesians, have before them the example of the Philippines, where in 50 years their relatives have progressed from island primitiveness to self government. The 150 million are not likely to be satisfied with anything less. Even persuading them to accept the enlightened tutelage necessary before independence may prove extremely difficult in their present state of mind.

All of which is a long way of saying that the stories coming out of Java today cannot be read as applying to an isolated situation. We have the word of Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines to the United States, writing in Collier's, that: "Essentially the problem of the Pacific represents the race problem of the world. Ignore it, side-step it, neglect it, and the next war will be a race war."

SALES SHOWING STEADY GROWTH IN THIS COUNTY

Approximately $3,493,129 Is Expended for Goods Here Other Than Food

So far this year sales of pre-paid tax receipts in Fayette County have been $7,433.40 more than during the same period in 1944, as shown by the last report of State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht. Total sales this year have reached $104,833.89 in the county, compared with $97,400.49 for the same time in 1944.

Only a small increase in sales of the pre-paid tax receipts was shown during the week ending September 29, when sales reached $2,798.94 compared with $2,722.32 for the same week in 1944.

Inasmuch as the total sale of pre-paid tax stamps in Fayette County this year has been $104,833.89, that sum represents three percent of the amount really expended for all kinds of goods in the county except foods, or a total of $3,493,129.63.

It is expected that when the year is up the total expended in Fayette County for goods other than food will reach over $5,000,000. All surrounding counties show increases as follows: Clinton, $94,805.61 so far this year, $89,338.35 for the same time last year; Greene County, $169,938.01 this year, $167,462.77 last year; Highland County, $92,167.65 this year, $83,320.61 last year; Madison County, $74,624.43 this year, $72,171.07 last year; Pickaway County, $72,150.13 this year, $67,022.97 last year; Ross County, $200,112.02 this year and $175,539.11 last year.

In the state at large the total so far this year is $51,675,760.04 and last year $46,670,192.24.

plotted on economic grounds. They massed figures to claim prices had advanced more than wages and therefore demanded wage increases to the same extent prices had advanced.

They have switched their strategy away from that ground entirely. Now they want a 30 percent wage increase, not claiming prices have advanced, but on the new ground that they want to maintain national purchasing power.

The same symptoms are evident in the position of John Lewis in coal. First he got his wage increases on price grounds, then developed something new called portal-to-portal to claim additional increases which could not be justified on price grounds, and now is fomenting for foremen in whom he was never before interested.

Thus labor has dropped the appeal to the public for justice, the popular appeal which made the unions what they are today. It no longer takes the public into its confidence by announcing what it wants in many instances.

In other cases, it assumes an unequivocal public-be-damned policy (New York elevator strike.) A patchwork handling of this condition can only lead to greater success for the unions along their present line. There must always necessarily be more and more strikes, more and more wage increases for any reasons, higher and higher prices. The situation thus will never get settled. On this current line it can never be stabilized.

Mr. Truman no doubt thinks he is playing good politics, as Mr. Roosevelt did with the same methods, but I do not think so. Mr. Roosevelt could get away with it economically because the situation was only starting then.

Now it has reached a zenith which means the unions have more control over economic policy of the nation than the government. They can force the country into inflation against Mr. Truman's own policy. To deliver his controls to the pressures of union political action can have but one result—defeat of his economic policies and therefore of himself.

If the unions continue without responsibility to the nation but only to their own causes, they must inevitably force inflation to its upper limits and beyond into economic collapse and finally into socialism, of either the Russian, German or possibly (but not probably) of the proposed American type.

Inflation means bankruptcy and the world knows no answer to that except arbitrary socialism—a dictatorship which requires men to do the will of a single-headed state.

Such events would hardly bring Mr. Truman any political success, or the unions in the long run, as the army would no doubt operate our dictatorship.

Yet there are visible steps which could be taken to deal with the fundamentals. Economic dictatorship must be restored to government, subject to appeals but uncontrollable by pressures.

An economic policy for the good of the people as a whole must be established beyond reach of the unions. A basis of justice for all must be established in place of the Roosevelt policy of justice-for-the-unions-more-than-any-one-else.

The unions cannot assume a national responsibility. Their very position as a minority class group prevents them from genuinely assuming a character based on national interest. But they must be made responsible to the public, the government and their own membership by laws placing them on a just footing with other class groups such as farmers and non-union workers, by requiring

The first report meeting of the current $23,000 National War Fund drive is set for Wednesday at 8 P. M. in the probate court room in the Court House, Charles Reinke, the chairman, said today.

Judging from return postcards from workers already received, Reinke said he expected a fairly good report although he realized the necessity for plenty of activity before the drive ends Saturday.

Chairmen of the different divisions only are asked to attend the meeting Wednesday although any one of the workers is welcome, it was emphasized.

Besides the local beneficiaries—the Boy Scouts and the 4-H Clubs—the National War Fund serves USO and its affiliated organizations and more than a dozen foreign agencies, all of which may be helped with one contribution.

Whot Pattern Freedom?

The labor situation in the United States today causes any person with the welfare of his country at heart, to think of its future with a feeling almost of fear. We see powerful labor unions calling strikes which force hundreds of thousands of men to be idle! If there are a million men in the United States today without work, who do not care to join unions, they will not be permitted to take jobs in "struck" plants. Little dictators all over the United States can lawfully prevent a man from exercising his constitutional right to earn a living, unless he "joins" and "pays" for the privilege, regardless of his wishes in the matter.

Take the situation in the oil industry, for example. The president of the Oil Workers International Union which has a dispute with major oil companies, has the authority to call out nearly 300,000 oil workers and close down oil production without regard to the damage and suffering caused a nation of 135,000,000 people. The oil workers are among the highest paid in the land, and they work short hours. They not only claim the right to destroy the oil industry if necessary to enforce their demands, but they can prevent other men who might be idle, from taking their jobs. And they do this under the law. How can such a condition exist in a country that is supposed to have a Constitution guaranteeing and protecting individual freedom?

What would happen if the oil companies should organize a union of corporations, and say to the public: "We are going to raise the price of oil products 30 percent, and we will hire any man, union or non-union." That would be collusion in restraint of trade, and such companies would find themselves in the hands of the law. But how would that be collusion any more than in the case of labor organizations that agree on a uniform policy and price which must be met by companies and the public to prevent a shutdown?

The whole situation is preposterous: First, because one man or a group of men can tell another man or group of men that they cannot work, and by right of might get away with it. Second, because an unregulated "international" organization can, by collusion and agreement within our borders, close an entire industry. Third, because our national labor policies actually prevent a "struck" company from hiring American citizens who might "dare" to go through the "picket lines" of strikers. Fourth, because we consider passing full employment laws and paying unemployment compensation when our national labor policy permits unregulated labor monopolies to prevent unemployed men from working if they so desire, or employers from hiring them if they need them.

While maintaining this burlesque on freedom in the United States, which leaves 135,000,000 people at the mercy of unregulated labor organizations and labor dictators, we are presumptuous enough to think that we can be a major influence in working out peace policies for the rest of the world, that will guarantee liberty and opportunity for oppressed individuals in other nations. What pattern of freedom can we offer from our own land where a man hasn't the right to work without joining specified organizations and paying for that privilege whether or not he so desires?

Unless labor organizations adopt "appeal and service" as their drawing card for securing members and social gains, rather than "force and coercion," they are repudiating the principles on which they were founded, and destroying the freedom of the worker.

Coal a Vital Factor

Peacetime use of atomic energy may be just around the corner, but even when that day arrives we should not underestimate the potentialities of existing resources that abound in this country. In coal alone we have a three-thousand-year supply, and competent industry to exploit it. The latter is as important as the coal itself.

Coal powers the bulk of our locomotives, supplies the energy for steel production, heats the majority of homes, and furnishes the chemicals for 200,000 useful products, including high octane gasoline, sulfa drugs, anesthetics, antiseptics, vitamins, aspirin, and insecticides.

Yes, the atom bomb age may be just around the corner but we still live in the coal age. And probably the atom will need help from coal before its fullest benefits can be realized. Meantime coal strikes over the nation, even though contracts do not expire for months to come, are becoming a threat, not only to reconversion, but to the public health and comfort as well.

Controlled Activity in Convalescence

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

SOME fifty years ago the late eminent Doctor Silas Weir Mitchell of Philadelphia introduced a rest cure for the treatment of certain nervous disorders, and this treatment has influenced medical practice for this entire period of time. Nowadays, army physicians have realized the importance of rapidly restoring sick and disabled men to duty and, following Dr. Mitchell's idea, have developed programs which have revolutionized the use of physical and mental rest.

According to Doctor Frank H. Krusen of the Mayo Clinic, programs of physical and mental activity tend to keep patients in a much more cheerful mental state and, furthermore, tend to lessen the period of disease and the tendency to recurrence of the disease.

Convalescence Reduced

Some reports from Air Forces hospitals showed that the period of convalescence in certain acute catallergic diseases has been reduced from 30 to 40 per cent by these programs. One hospital reported a reduction from 18 to 11 days of hospitalization for patients with measles, and a drop from 30 to 23 days for patients with scarlet fever.

A study of more than 600 patients with a certain type of pneumonia showed that one group convalescing in the ordinary manner with continued rest averaged 45 days in the hospital, while for those given the mental and physical activity the period was reduced to 31 days. There was a recurrence of the condition in 30 per cent of the patients who were treated with rest, and in only 3 per cent of the patients who were kept active.

According to Doctor Krusen, there are but few patients who die of heart failure alone, without complications. The three great causes of death among patients who also have heart failure are the formation of a blood clot in the lungs, pneumonia, and a kidney disturbance called uremia. He thinks that these conditions are more likely to develop under a state of complete rest and might be prevented by mild muscular activity.

It would appear, then, that excessive rest may be almost as harmful as too much activity. It is the middle ground that must be considered. Each patient is carefully studied by the doctor and the amount of effort he is allowed to exert during his period of convalescence is determined by his condition.

Patients who have had an operation cannot be told to go home and return to work when they feel "strong enough." Rather, they must be observed throughout the period of recovery, and their activities controlled to bring about complete recovery as quickly as possible.

"GOD'S MINUTE"

I have only just a minute,
Only sixty seconds in it,
Forced upon me—can't refuse it,
Didn't seek it, didn't choose it,
I must suffer if I lose it,
Just a tiny little minute—
But eternity is in it.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

SANDRA LEARNED the person to handle a Withington was another Withington. First one dominated, then the other. The visit that had started so dimly turned into a success.

The girl understood Brody's absence when she went to the kitchen to start dinner. He was there, putting a huge beef roast into a pan. The oven was roaring.

"English people like rare roast beef," he said, then looked up and grinned. "So do ranch folks."

"And so do dressmakers."

"Everything's all right, isn't it?" Before the girl could reply he said: "I know it would be."

Brody served the dinner, wearing a canvas apron that advertised beer, then sat down at the table. Probably Spenser's father had never experienced anything like it, but he was determined not to be daunted by anything that did not daunt his son.

Sandra was careful to give them plenty of time alone to discuss anything they might care to. Though he was crowded for time, Spenser's father managed a talk with Brody about Tex and hunting dogs in general, and he listened to the cupuncher's enthusiastic reports of Spenser's riding prowess in the western saddle.

That same evening about 9 o'clock, when the boy's father had to leave, he still gave the appearance of being somewhat addled. Definitely, he did not approve of Spenser's life, but he had to approve of the fact that Spenser liked it.

There was a slight awkwardness about him, as he took Sandra's hand. "Cheerio, Sandra—and don't worry."

She did not know what he said to his son because the boy went down to the car with him. The chauffeur and motorcycle policeman, who had been entertained and fed by Brody, now were waiting to insure a speedy trip to the airport.

From the porch Sandra watched the boy and his father embrace. The man kissed Spenser's cheek, then bent and kissed it a second time.

The boy did not move until the long machine had left the grounds and was far down the street. Then he leaped up the steps, two at a time.

"I get to kiss Belinda," he screamed. "Father gave me an extra one for her." Romance faded into ambition. "Wonder when I'll have a chance at a motorcycle escort. I'd like a siren." He went into an imitation of one.

Sandra popped her hands over her ears. "You're too good, Spenser. Stop it."

"Oh, I forgot," he said contritely. "Your headache."

The girl remembered her claimed headache of four days and said weakly: "It's better now. I'll go to the studio with you tomorrow."

She had made the same excuse to Bob Wakeman, to prevent his popping in to interfere with Mr. Withington's unpredictable visit. Strangely, he had obeyed. But tonight, perhaps a half hour after Spenser's father had gone, Bob arrived without any previous announcement.

"I'm tired of being treated as if I had rabies. Here are some posties." He handed her a cellophane-topped box, holding green orchids. "And two hundred aspirin." He gave her another package, then studied her carefully. "Personally, I don't believe you've had a headache."

"I haven't," she admitted. "I was leading the cloistered life because I knew Spenser's father was coming. I didn't know when, so I had to be prepared." How grateful she was that Bob's impromptu visit had not coincided. "You shouldn't have come so late."

Wakeman brushed aside her reprimand. "Love knows no set hours." He snatched her into his arms and whispered: "Darling, you are beautiful."

"Now Bob!" she said sternly. He allowed her to draw away, then stood gazing at her. "I used to admire you for your genius, Sandra, and because you were so chic. You always looked exciting. Now you aren't chic. You are sort of gentle and pretty, instead. And it's still better. Yes, you have changed, Sandra."

"Spenser has changed me. To look more like his mother. I think he hoped his father might propose to me." She gave an embarrassed laugh. "But he didn't. The resemblance made him angry."

Bob Wakeman looked disturbed. "But at least he was emotional. That proves something. I'll bet if he were around you long enough his animosity would change to love—oh, I wish you'd never taken this boy. He has upset everything."

"Spenser has nothing to do with whom I love, Bob." The girl's voice was sharp. "And I don't love you."

"Some day you will," he said, uncut by her words. He was so serious that Sandra let him have his way. She shrugged, then said: "You must go now. It's late."

"But darn it, Sandra, I don't want to go. I'm called back to the store. I have to leave in the morning—oh, I could kill Benet. Please, darling, when are you coming back to Wakeman-Benet?"

"When Spenser's affairs permit." "Good lord, Sandra, by then you may not even have an idea."

She chuckled derisively. "Then I'll accept Superior Studios' offer. Or, perhaps open my own shop in Beverly Hills. I wouldn't be the first designer to do that."

"It's unthinkable. Sandra belongs to us. Why, it would be unprofessional—uh, bigamy, or something."

"You must go," the girl said once more.

"Oh, all right, all right. So long as I never did get past the entrance hall I may as well go. But I'll keep trying, Sandra darling. I'd be so much better for you than Gordon, even if you could have him."

His words, all too true, put coldness about the girl's heart. "Good-by, Bob." She leaned and kissed him of her own accord, knowing that was the best method of getting rid of him.

As a rule Belinda, who had a studio pass, joined Sandra and Spenser on Friday afternoons, as soon as school was dismissed. Then, when Spenser had finished work, they dashed somewhere for dinner, making a celebration of the weekend reunion. But on this Friday, no Belinda. Consequently they hurried home, thinking she was there with Brody.

She was there, not happily visiting with the old cupuncher, but weeping on his shoulder. Several pieces of her luggage were in the main hall.

"It's happened," she sobbed. "If you mean you're moving in with us," said the boy, "I don't see anything to cry about."

"I'm going back to the Mesquite." She wailed all the more, at the mention of the name.

Brody said: "Her mother called. She saw all Spenser's publicity and she's sore. Said if she had known the boy was in this part of the woods she'd never have let Belinda be here and for her to get home. Right now."

"I'm not surprised," murmured Sandra.

When Spenser's father left, the boy had managed to control himself and not cry. Now it seemed he would not be able to keep from it. Sandra put a tight grip on his shoulder, pivoting him so that she could coerce him with her eyes.

The boy took courage. "Don't cry, Belinda," he said. "It's definitely moldy right now. Just another of her rummy ideas. She'll tire of having you there, just as she did before. Then you can come back." He leaned down and kissed her cheek.

"Wolf," she gulped through tears. "Hollywood wolf."

"Oh, that's from my father. He sent it to you." He kissed her again. "That's from Wolf Withington. Loud laughter leaped from his lips when she suddenly smiled. "Cheer up, let's have some fun and not think about being separated."

But no happiness could be forced the following morning when it actually was time for Belinda and Brody to drive away. The situation was especially bad when she was told she could not take her dog.

Brody was forced to tell her: "Text almost got run over, Lindy. That's why I brought him here."

"SEE did it. On purpose. I hate her," screamed Belinda. "She tried to kill my dog. I hate her! I hate her! I'll always hate her." She threw herself on the automobile cushions, out of sight of Sandra and Spenser.

Brody drove the little pickup truck away.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It's considered very likely here that the Office of Indian Affairs is in for a scalping when its 1946 budget comes up for consideration by Congress. The reason is an odd one.

The office hasn't been lacking in critics, but they never were numerous enough to slow its steady expansion. That probably is all changed now and just because the discussion of raising Congressional salaries has come so much to the fore.

When the Congressional salary bug started biting on Capitol Hill and in several other places where reorganization of Congress is considered vital to the progress of government, some one dug up the Indian Bureau, as it used to be called, as the "horrible example" of what has happened to our government.

THIS first searcher out of vicious comparisons (no one remembers now who mentioned it first) pointed out that the combined salaries of Congress are $5,360,000 (counting in the four delegates and resident commissioners) a year; while the Indian Office, if it gets all it asks for, will have around $32,000,000 to keep itself next year.

Of course this is just playing with figures because Congress costs the people considerably more than the salaries of its members. Still the fact that one little bureau stuck away in the Department of Interior says it needs six times as much as the total wage of Congress is enough to raise eyebrows all over the place.

Some one, carrying the comparison a little further found that the Indian Office has more than 7,000 employees; is asking for about 300 more; and all of this to minister to something like 400,000 Indians.

NO ONE knows exactly how many Indians there are in the United States. Inter-marriages and the wide range of economic status make it practically impossible to tabulate them accurately.

This means, say the figure tossers, that there is approximately one employee in the office for each 55 Indians in the country; while each member of the House of Representatives has to minister to 300,000 or so persons and most of the Senators number their constituents in millions.

Observers say that Congressmen, a little nettled over the fact that they can't take the bit in their teeth and hike their wages, for fear of public opinion, are all set to buck the Indian Office into the dust when it tries to climb into the saddle for a ride toward more money and more employees.

IF THE aviation industry has anything to say about it, one colorful phase of flying that followed World War I will be missing this peace time. That is the barnstormers that flew all over the country and thrilled huge crowds at everything from county fairs to the big metropolitan air shows with sky feats of derring-do.

The reason is simply that the barnstormers, being good showmen, did everything they could to convince their audiences that flying was a dangerous business, to be indulged in only by daredevils.

The Civil Air Patrol, backed by most of the rest of aviation, is now out to convince the nation of just the opposite. Thus, the "air shows" and exhibitions from now on will emphasize the safety of flying and the ease with which any one can take to the skyways.

Crile Hospital Telephone Manager, Robert C. Clark, Speaks at BPW Dinner

Personal Observations of Veteran Patients at the Army Hospital Near Cleveland Interest Members And Bosses at Dinner Tuesday Night

Robert C. Clark's impressions, observations and conversations with wounded war veteran patients at Crile General Hospital, Cleveland, left the 81 members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's Club, with a new and broader outlook on the lives and struggle for life in the hospital, of the World War II veterans. The annual Bosses' Dinner was held at the Country Club Tuesday night. Mr. Clark, resident Ohio Bell Telephone Company manager in the Cleveland area, where he maintains contact between the telephone company and government hospitals, delivered his enlightening talk in a forceful and personable way.

Mr. Clark particularly emphasized the part people at home can play in helping a wounded vet become adjusted once more to civilian life and occupations. He illustrated each point with an example taken from his personal observations and cases of the Crile Hospital's patients.

Crile Hospital is one of the newest in the United States, having been opened officially in April of 1944. It is equipped with the finest surgical and medical facilities and staffed with specialists in every branch of the healing arts. Mr. Clark stated that in the same month as the hospital was opened, 231 patients arrived from Europe on the east coast and were brought by train to Crile Hospital. He vividly described to his audience the emotions of the patients when they found they could put through a call to the folks back home—just to tell them they were back.

Clark mentioned there is now 2,390 patients at Crile Hospital, which he said was to be made the plastic eye center for army patients. In closing, he again made plain the importance of tolerance on the part of employer and employee in helping veterans become adjusted once more to civilian occupations.

Before the introduction of the speaker by Mrs. Edith Wilson, of the public affairs committee, who with Miss Helen King, was co-chairman, a few announcements were made by the president, Miss Ruth Sexton.

She said the conference planned to be held at Middletown, Sunday, October 21, had been changed to Hamilton. A luncheon will feature the day's activities which begin at 9:15 A. M., in the Anthony Wayne Hotel.

Miss Sexton then asked for 12 volunteer workers to assist in getting out the T.B. seals, a project taken on by the club, this year. Mrs. Marguerite Powell, T.B. seals committee chairman, asked them to meet at the T.B. rooms at 7:30 P. M., Monday night.

A national regional meeting, to be held October 26, 27 and 28, in the Netherlands Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, was also announced by Miss Sexton. She said the session on the 27th was an open meeting. Dinner reservations may be made with her by those who wish to attend.

Winston Churchill Said To Be America's Best Friend At Rotary Ann Luncheon

Louis Alber, Cleveland Lecture Manager, Tells Rotarians About Churchill's Six-month Tour Of U. S. Giving 45 Lectures in 1931

Despite the fact that Churchill is no longer prime minister of England, he still will have influence enough to check extreme Socialist and Communist tendencies in the Attlee regime, Louis Alber told Rotarians and their guests at the Ladies' day luncheon meeting at the Country Club Tuesday noon.

"Churchill is the staunchest, most understanding foreign friend America has had since General Lafayette landed on our shores," Alber declared. Speaking of his half-American, half-British ancestry, Alber said "he has the tenacity of the British and the audacity of the Americans."

Alber first knew Churchill in 1910 when he began asking him to come to the United States on a lecture tour. He did not succeed until 1931, when Churchill, who suffered losses in the 1929 stock market crash, agreed to come to this country for 45 lectures for which he received $50,000 with all expenses paid for himself, his wife and daughter.

Shepherding Churchill and his family—making appointments, attending press conferences and protecting him from "overwhelming American hospitality"—for six months gave Alber an opportunity to know Churchill, whom he labelled "Britain's man of destiny."

Outlining Churchill's characteristics, Alber said "There are no fuzzy edges in his character. He is brutally forthright and the most honest man I have ever known. He is impatient and at 72 he is still in a hurry, fortunately for Britain. He has a prodigious memory. He has the faculty of grasping the salient point of a situation, deciding what to do about it and doing it quickly. He belongs to the breed of men who can be silenced but who cannot be killed."

Alber illustrated his points with stories gleaned from his six months with Churchill. He told of his serious injuries suffered when Churchill was struck by an automobile in New York at the beginning of the tour, his dynamic convalescence and entertaining of the Brooklyn-born boy who accidentally hit him. Churchill's mastery of a crowd of 20,000 in Canada when the amplifying system he was using during a lecture broke down was described by Alber. He told, too, of the terrific impact of Churchill's personality when the full force of it was directed on one person and of his lack of fear when plots to assassinate him were discovered.

"Now that the war is won and peace is on the way to being organized, Churchill is possessed with the idea of liberty, the incomparable, the prodigious, the irresistible, the immortal Churchill," Alber concluded.

Browning Club Program Enjoyed Tuesday Night

"He That Hath A Good Neighbor Hath A Good Morrow" was the quotation for the evening when the Browning Club met Tuesday evening in the Hotel Washington club rooms.

The home economics department was in charge of the program which was in keeping with the "Good Neighbor Policy" which the club is studying.

Mrs. Frank Jackson opened the program with a paper giving a vivid and delightful account of her trip through Mexico last summer. In a most interesting manner she described the people and their customs, making her audience feel much closer to their southern neighbors. Mrs. Jackson also displayed beautiful mementos of her trip.

The second paper was read by Mrs. Stephen Brown, following out the theme of Mexico. She discussed Mexican art today, describing how primitive Mexican art was in the beginning and bringing her paper up to date with a discussion of the three modern artists of Mexico, Diego Rivera, Jose Orozco and David Alfaro Siqueiros.

The program was very much appreciated and a discussion of our Mexican neighbors followed.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. A. B. Murray, president.

Gleaners Class

The members of the Gleaners Class of McNair Church and their husbands were graciously entertained by the class president, Mrs. Frank Thompson, at her home. The group opened the business session by singing a hymn after which Mrs. Thompson offered prayer and read the scripture from the 8th chapter of St. Mark.

The reports were given for the past month, but no business was discussed, and the meeting was closed with the singing of a hymn.

Following the short business meeting Mrs. Thompson promoted a very clever contest, and the prize was awarded to Mrs. Carrie Lydy. Later the entire group adjourned to the dining room to play games. Much merriment was caused by the white elephant prizes awarded to the winners. Mrs. Dora Underwood was co-hostess for the evening and capably assisted Mrs. Thompson in serving delicious seasonal refreshments.

Ohio State's Warren Amling Voted Best Lineman of Week

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Warren Amling, a hard working member of Ohio State's crack football team, has won recognition as the outstanding lineman of the week.

The 21-year-old, 198-pound guard from Panama, Ill., drew the plaudits of newspapermen, players and coaches for his superior play in Ohio State's 12-0 conquest of Wisconsin Saturday.

A junior with two years of varsity experience, Amling played 56 minutes of the rugged Wisconsin tussle and his side of the line was "absolutely impregnable," Paul Horning of the Columbus Dispatch said.

Wisconsin Coach Harry Stuhldreier remarked Amling "was a great player," while Amling's own mentor, Carroll Widdoes, said "he is the finest lineman I've seen all season."

Perhaps the greatest tribute the guard received came from Bill Hackett, the Buckeyes' All-American guard who is through for the season because of injuries. Hackett said "Amling is greater now than I ever hoped to be."

Leon Bramlett, navy end, came in for a lot of attention for his Saturday's effort, but Middle boss Comdr. Oscar Hagberg declared that guard Jim Carrington "was our outstanding lineman against Penn State. He turned in a whale of a game and his offensive and defensive blocking was superb."

Two other guards attracted the notice of spotters, John Cloitiaux, playing his first varsity game for Baylor, got more chances with the ball against Arkansas than a guard usually gets in a year. He intercepted three passes that helped Baylor upset the Razorbacks 23-13. Ernest "Bear" Knotts, of Duke, spent most of his time in Wake Forest's backfield.

Other linemen who starred included:

Ends—Paul Walker, Yale, Bob Sponaugle, Penn, Don Sailors, Nebraska, M. T. Burress, Mississippi State, Gene Wilson, Southern Methodist, Hubert Bechtel, Texas, Jim Callahan, Southern California, and Aubrey McCall, Oklahoma.

Tackles—George Seivitsky, Penn, Tom Hughes, Purdue, and Jack Dieringer, Nevada.

Guards—Ed Virshup, Temple, Grant Darnell, Texas A. & M., and Marion Iterson, U.C.L.A.

Centers—Neil Zundel, Princeton, Dick Scott, Navy, Frank Snadack, Columbia, and Harold Watts, Michigan.

Markettes Take Lead in Ladies' Loop

The Fayette Fruit Market keglers shook off the Kieffer Funeral Home team in their tie for first place in the Ladies' City League when the Fruits whitewashed the Murphy dime store outfit at the Main Street alleys Tuesday night.

The Fruits' clean sweep was the only one turned in all evening as the ladies settled down after getting the bowling season underway.

Kieffers lost the first game in their match with Mason's Markettes of Jeffersonville but rallied in the second and third contests to chalk up the big end of the match and step down into second place in the league standing.

Light's Dairymaids and Hoff's Markettes took turn about winning in their bowling match. The Dairymaids took the end games, two wins which were enough to put them on a par with the Morris girls in the league standings. Webb's 492 total for the Dairymaids was the best of the evening.

The Morris-API match ended up in a two out of three win for the Warworkers, who, incidentally piled up 2480 pins, the biggest total of the evening.

Washington CH Day at Races

MRS. WARREN YARBERRY'S oddly-named handicap performer, Just Beans, is a likely starter in the first running of the $5,000 Ohio Championship, which will top the final day's program at Beulah Park Saturday. The Ohio Championship will be contested over the distance of one and one-sixteenth miles. Just Beans, shown here with Anthony Licata up, won the Grandview Inn Handicap early in the Beulah meeting.

Feature Event at Beulah Park Labeled 'Washington C. H. Purse'—Many Expected To Attend as Guests Of Management

Thursday has been designated as "Washington C. H. Day" at the Beulah Park running race meeting.

And, followers of the sport of kings in this horse loving community today are wondering whether any horses with local connections will face the starter.

They are all invited to attend the afternoon's festivities as guests of the management. Just before the start of the meeting three weeks ago, a representative of Beulah Park came to Washington C. H. and passed out complimentary tickets almost by the basketful. If there are any without them now, it is because they have been lost or because they just don't get around at all. Several parties, including many to whom running races are something of a novelty, have been made up for Thursday afternoon.

There are not as many horses from here racing at Beulah Park at this meeting as in some past seasons. However, J. R. Hoppes of near Jeffersonville has a couple there. A. E. Davis, a native of Madison Mills and the fourth generation of a family of horse breeders and racers, is training them. His Campdown Sims, came from far back with a rush Monday to win the last race and pay off at long odds. Davis has a couple of his own also that may run Thursday. Also there is a possibility that Tommy Chic, owned last year by Bob Carman and trained by Davis, may start.

The feature race for the afternoon has been named the Washington C. H. Day Purse. It probably will be an allowance event designed to attract some of the best horses at the track. If it is a sprint, Tommy Chic may be entered; if it is over a longer distance, Campdown Sims or Hoppes' other horse, Lady Woodford, may start.

Markets and Finance

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Consistent strength in wheat and sharp fluctuations in oats and rye dealings gave the grain futures market an irregular tone today.

COAL STRIKE CALLED OFF BY LEWIS FOR MONDAY IN INTEREST OF PUBLIC

as AFL union officials and the firm producers sought to end the jurisdictional dispute. Sheriff's officers and police broke up the group of more than 300 pickets who sat in front of the entrance to the Warner Brothers Studio.

A general strike of 18,000 CIO members in New Castle County, Delaware, was threatened by union officials unless a five week strike at the National Vulcanizing Fibre Company is peacefully settled.

The five week strike at National Fibre by 700 CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers started, union leaders said, after the company failed to negotiate a new contract. The company said action would be taken when the workers came back to work.

There was no sign of settlement in the Pacific Northwest lumber strike by some 61,000 AFL workers while CIO international workers resumed a conference with operators to discuss their demands for a 25-cent hourly wage increase for 40,000 CIO members.

CONTRACT TO FIX LEAKS AT WHS APPROVED

Tuition Lists Are OK'd by Board of Education
Tuesday Night

A $1,500 contract to the Trisco Waterproofing Co. of Lima was approved Tuesday night by the city board of education.

The Trisco Co. is repairing and sealing the parapet wall and roof of the main high school building on North Street and also is sealing cracks in others walls of the addition, it was explained.

The tuition lists from the four county townships sending students to Washington C. H. High School, and the personal tuition for high school and elementary grades were approved by the board.

As set by the state department of education, tuition rate for high school students is $14.01 per month per pupil, and for elementary students, $3.80 per month per pupil.

There are 140 students for whom tuition is paid by township boards of education—93 from Union Township, 30 from Jasper Township, 10 from Concord Township and seven from Marion Township. Fifteen children in grades one to eight in the city schools have tuition paid by their parents, who want their children to attend WHS schools despite the fact an elementary school is maintained in the district in which they live. In the high school there are ten students whose $14.01 monthly tuition is paid by their parents.

Mrs. T. H. Bush was offered a contract as a permanent teacher for the rest of the year. She had been substituting in the first grade at Sunnyside. A. B. Murray, superintendent of schools, said he felt Mrs. Bush would accept the contract.

Mrs. Robert Willis' request that students be dismissed from school for private music lessons was denied. The board decided to continue its policy of not excusing students from classroom work.

Cooks for the school lunch program to start around the first of November at Sunnyside and Eastside Schools are Mrs. Margaret Easton and Mrs. Anna Graves at Eastside; Mrs. Pearl Provost and Mrs. Faye Lynch at Sunnyside.

Cooks at the high school, which has been serving lunches since the first of October, are Mrs. Coral Meier and Mrs. Nina Smith.

AFFIRMS DECISION

The district Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of Judge H. M. Rankin in the case of Mayme Wolfe against the Industrial Commission of Ohio, in which Mrs. Wolfe appealed from the decision of the lower court which had found she was not entitled to compensation for the death of her husband, and dismissed her petition. The decision is signed by three judges of the Appeals Court.

Reviewing the case, it is noted that the Industrial Commission ruled adversely to the claim for compensation on the death of the husband of Mrs. Wolfe, and the Common Pleas Court sustained this ruling.

The issue presented to the trial court was whether or not there was any causal connection between the claimed injury and death.

Two claims were made by Mrs. Wolfe in her appeal, that the issue was determined erroneously, and that hypothetical questions were submitted to the commission's expert medical witnesses which were improper and the questions should have been excluded.

It is noted that Judge Rankin gave thorough decision in the case and that such decision would be sustained.

SEEKS SEPARATION

SOLDIER RELIEF COMMISSION IS TO BE ENLARGED

Judge Harry M. Rankin Will Appoint Five-man
Board Soon

The five-man Soldiers' Relief Commission, authorized by the Hildebrand Act which went into effect in Ohio Tuesday, will be appointed "within the next few days," Common Pleas Judge Harry M. Rankin indicated today.

The commission—which now consists of R. B. Tharp, Reil G. Allen and Harold McLean—will have one member each for one, two, three, four and five year terms. Judge Rankin did not indicate whether or not any of the three present members would be re-appointed.

The five-man board will have the power to employ a county veterans' service officer, who must be a discharged serviceman, to handle discharged servicemen's relief and benefit claims if it desires to do so.

The office also will be responsible for transmitting necessary information to the Veterans' Administration at Washington in an effort to speed benefits.

The five member board is to include representatives of the American Legion, the Spanish War Veterans, the Disabled American Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the veterans of the second World War.

Whether or not the program will need the tax of not more than half a mill on assessable property within the county (which it is authorized to request) to finance its activities is not certain. Previously, the commission has operated successfully on funds set aside for it by the county commissioners. For the past few years, it has required from $4,000 to $5,000.

13 DOGS KILLED OR DIED DURING LAST 4 MONTHS

Rabid Animals Were Infected
By Dog Brought from California

From last June until Wednesday when the dog quarantine was lifted, there were a total of 13 dogs which either died of rabies or were killed because they were infected, Dr. William Bolton, the county sanitarian, said today.

The first rabid dog in the county, reported last June, was brought here from California, Dr. Bolton said. Two rabid dogs in June, six in July, five in August and one in September, all presumably infected from the dog brought from the west coast, were killed or died, he said.

Twenty-eight other dogs and five cats, all supposed to have been rabid, reacted negatively to tests, Dr. Bolton said. Part of the dogs and cats bit people.

Altogether, 22 persons were bitten, less than half of whom had to take Pasteur treatments, Dr. Bolton indicated. Some of the tests of the dogs or cats which bit the people showed the animal was not rabid and Pasteur treatments were unnecessary.

ASKS FORMER CHOIR MEMBERS TO REHEARSE

Give It A CHANCE To Help Feel BETTER

You can help your bowels to get properly by making it a habit to move them at regular times every day. If an occasional attack of bowel sluggishness causes headache or temporary minor intestinal distress, give TONJOX No. 1 or 2 a chance to remove the waste matter accumulated in the bowels. Then see for yourself how much better you will feel. Caution: Use only as directed. Sold by DOWNTOWN DRUG STORE
